statement:

Coronavirus/Covid-19

Following the continuing news, developments and updates with regards to the global & UK outbreak of Coronavirus (COVID-19) we thought it would be helpful for our business partners to issue and update the current company position for Grillatech

Grillatech have assessed the possible risks and have adopted where necessary measures to ensure ongoing service supply.

We are imposing restrictions on access to our offices in the UK and have equipped all our staff to work from home for the duration of the situation.

We have prioritised remote working services and carry out an onsite assessment for key industry projects that are requested. In this case, we carry out as little onsite work as needed with most of the work carried out remotely in accordance with priority projects.

Grillatech have taken necessary precautions to safeguard the wellbeing of its staff, clients and supply chains by implementing a series of measures that will enable the company to continue trading and support the relevant parties throughout this pandemic.

Staff are being made aware of their duty of care to each other as per World Health Organisation suggestions and UK Government directives. This duty of care is extended to all our clients who we come into direct contact with.
